Data Analyst

Objective

I am an enthusiastic and dedicated professional with extensive experience in analysing data and communicating key insights to support decision making. I believe that I am an exceptional analyst, with strong technical skills and a passion for data visualisation and communication. After almost 15 years of experience in a law enforcement environment, I am seeking a new challenge that allows me to develop my skills in a role where loyalty, dedication and a positive working attitude are rewarded with more responsibility and promotion opportunities.

Experience

Analyst, Police Service of Northern Ireland

June '19 to Present

Collating, cleaning and modelling data from a variety of sources. Manipulating data with a wide variety of software tools to identify key patterns and insights. Presenting analytical findings to stakeholders to drive decision making. Designing and preparing information dashboards. Identifying and understanding new data sources, including how they may relate to existing data and assessing any data quality issues.

Assistant Investigator, Police Service of Northern Ireland

Feb '15 to June '19

Assisting investigators by providing advice on investigation strategies. Liaison with other departments, external partners and members of the public. Presentation of evidence at Court.

Analyst, Office of the Police Ombudsman for Northern Ireland

June '12 to Feb '15

Analysing information from a range of sources to help direct investigations. Analysing and reporting management information to monitor organisational performance.

Unemployed

July '11 to June '12

After moving back to Northern Ireland to support my partners career, I was unemployed for around one year. I used this time to volunteer with Victim & Witness Support, and to explore a number of personal interests (such as photography and writing).

Strategic Analyst & Partnership Coordinator, Greater Manchester Police

July '08 to July '11

Analysing data from a range of community safety organisations. Identifying and understanding key public safety issues, and making recommendations for action. Managing relationships with key stakeholders.
